The woman fell over the steps of the porch and was unable to rise until neighbors ran to her assistance. Mr. Edwards' wife was compelled to leave the home on account of the treatment she received many months ago.

Important Conference in Youngstown
With the approach of the annual East Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church which will be held in Trinity church next month, stories of the possible elimination of one of the districts with a view of lessening the cost of administration and improving the conference, have been revived, says the Youngstown Telegram.

A rumor emanated from Warren Friday to the effect that the Youngstown district would probably be eliminated and absorbed by other districts of the conference. This is considered highly improbable by Methodist ministers of the city. They admit that there is a possibility of one of the districts being absorbed but do not think the Youngstown district would be the one disposed of, because of its importance.

It is thought probable the Akron district will be eliminated. The Akron district is situated as to be easily absorbed by the Youngstown, Cleveland and Canton districts and if that is done, the remaining districts would be more uniform and the conference more evenly divided. The Youngstown district might be made to include Mahoning, Trumbull and Ashtabula counties.

The coming conference will be one of the most important in the history of the church. There is a possibility of the boundary between the East Ohio and North Ohio Conferences being eliminated and the two converted into the North-East Ohio Conference. If that is done the conference will be the largest and one of the most important in the world.

There are more than 300 ministers in the East Ohio Conference and at least 300 in the North Ohio conference. With the consolidation the conference would have more than 600 ministers. At present the boundary line divides the city of Cleveland, E. Cleveland being in the East Ohio Conference, and W. Cleveland being in the North Ohio Conference. It is especially desired to have the entire city under one conference.

Bishop Frank Bristol will be the presiding bishop. Both the ministerial and lay delegates from the conference to the General Conference are chosen at this session.

Joseph Justice Lucky Boy.
Joseph N., 19 years old, son of R. M. Justice, a Green township farmer, was selected at Youngstown last Saturday on the fifth ballot as the boy from Mahoning county to be given the free trip to the Ohio state fair next week. George A. Baldwin of Boardman township and Frank Schults of Goshen township, were selected as first and second alternates respectively to take young Justice's place if he should be prevented from going.

The selection was made by a committee composed of the presidents of the board of commissioners, county fair board, county school examiners, county Sunday school organizations, and editors of the newspapers published within the county. Of the 24 persons included in this committee, 15 were present at the meeting.

The state fair board has arranged to have as its guests one boy from each of the 88 counties of the state, all expenses of the trip to be paid by the board. The boys will be required to give their services to help the fair officials in exchange for the cost of their visit. The object of this plan is to give the country boys the advantage of city experience and to enable them to come into direct contact with the work of the fair, which is in the interest of the farmers, take notes on the fair and make a report to those interested on his return home.

Prominent Men Are Squirming.
A special from Lisbon says the scandal which has stirred Lisbon and the entire county within the past few weeks as involving prominent married and single men of this city took new proportions today when Miss Margaret Holliday, the young lady in the case, humiliated over the position in which she has been placed made a formal demand of several of the married men with whom she has been associated for money, amounting in each case to more than $1000. In each case where settlement has been demanded it has been refused and the young woman and her mother, Mrs. Emma Holliday, have consulted with attorneys and endeavored to secure counsel who will be willing to take the matter in hand and carry it through the courts. A number of others implicated, it is understood, will be approached and settlement demanded. The grounds that the girl humiliated and degraded by reason of the developments of the past few weeks is unable to secure employment and will be compelled to seek a home elsewhere.

The girl is now said to have made a clean breast of the matter to her mother and in case the matter cannot be satisfactorily arranged developments may be looked for in court in a short time.

Deafness Can't be Cured
By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Foley Kidney Pills are a tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. F. A. Morris, Canfield, Ohio.

EXTRA SESSION COMES TO END

WAS MOST ACTIVE MEETING OF LAWMAKERS HELD IN MANY YEARS.

Washington, Aug. 23.—The extraordinary session of the Sixty-second congress is closed. It has been the most active session held in many years. For fear he wouldn't know it, the house and senate both sent committees to President Taft to notify him that congress was going to adjourn.

The Wiley investigating committee will hold its report until December.

President Taft sent in his message vetoing the cotton tariff bill. As soon as it had been read Democratic Leader Underwood announced that as there were not enough votes to pass it over the veto it would be referred to a committee. The veto message was much like that in which he vetoed the wool tariff bill. There was considerable hilarity while the message was being read.

President's Message.
In his message vetoing the cotton tariff bill President Taft scored the methods of house and senate in adopting the measure. He declared the bill and its amendments were passed without consideration of facts concerning industries involved and that amendments affecting the chemical, iron and steel schedules were not even considered in committee.

"My objection to the cotton schedule," the president said, "is that it was adopted without an investigation or information of a satisfactory character as to the effect it will have upon an industry of this country in which the capital invested amounted in 1909 to $821,000,000, the value of the product to $629,000,000, and affecting at least 1,200,000 persons and involving wages amounting to $146,000,000."

"The bill would not go into effect, by its terms, until January 1 next, and before that time a full report to be submitted by the tariff board, based upon the most thorough investigation, will show the comparative cost of all the elements of products, and the manufacture of cotton in this and other countries."

Refuses to Be Party.
Of the amendments, the president stated:

"I find that there was practically no consideration of either the chemical schedule or the metal schedule by any committee of either house. I cannot make myself a party to dealing with the industries of the country in this way."

Technical errors, the president said, filled the patchwork measure, many so glaring that it would be impossible to administer the law.

The message says in conclusion: "At present the proposed legislation appears to be all a matter of guesswork. The important thing is to get our tariff legislation out of the slough of guesswork and log rolling and expert statements of interested persons, and to establish that legislation on the basis of tested and determined facts, to which shall be applied, fairly and openly, whatever tariff principles the people of the country choose to adopt."

Packed galleries witnessed the end in the senate, although the attendance of solons was slim. Only a corporal's guard heard the last rap of Vice President Sherman's gavel.

Opening the session, Chaplain Pierce gave thanks for the success of the session. The usual amenities of thanking vice president "for his impartial attitude in presiding," and the usual formal reply of thanks were carried through gravely.

Just as the crowds in the galleries were comfortably settled an executive session was held and everybody had to hustle out.

House is Boisterous.
Boisterous enthusiasm of the same variety that prevails among pupils on the last day of school reigned in the house during the closing hours of the session.

Members gathered in knots on the floor, bidding each other farewell, and Speaker Clark had hard work in making himself heard above the conversation.

After the house had been in session an hour, the boisterousness subsided and everybody waited around aimlessly for the rap of Speaker Clark's gavel announcing sine die adjournment. Among small measures passed was the bill authorizing Rodman Wamaker to erect in New York harbor a statue of a North American Indian.

They Saved Money.
The special session of congress made a record in economy, according to Chairman Fitzgerald (D., N. Y.) of the house committee on appropriations.

"No session of congress has ever run so long and appropriated so small a sum of money as the session just closing," he asserted.

"During the session congress has appropriated $301,052."

"It has repealed appropriations aggregating $347,650. In addition, it has declined to appropriate $140,795 as extra compensation for employees of congress."

"The total saving during the present session is $308,836."

PLAN BIG ECONOMIC CONCLAVE

Trust Magnates, Labor Leaders and Legislators To Discuss Business Questions.

Washington, Aug. 23.—A great conclave of trust magnates, labor leaders, economists and legislators is to meet in Washington between now and the reconvening of congress to advise together on the economic crisis which the nation faces.

John D. Rockefeller, J. Pierpont Morgan, Judge Elbert H. Gary of the steel trust, George W. Perkins, Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and others will be cited to appear before a senate committee and give frank expression of their views on the operation of the Sherman anti-trust and the interstate commerce laws, whether they should be repealed, or amended, and if the latter, how?

These labor chiefs and captains of industry will be requested to discuss the advantages and evils of competition and combination respectively. They will be asked to go into the question of the relations of employer and employee. In brief the question which they will be asked to assist in determining is whether it is better for the commercial health of the country that combinations now in restraint of trade be legalized; or that they should be dissolved and free and unrestricted competition be restored.

Berstein, Baum, Cravis & Co.'s TAILORED SUITS FOR FALL

It's not at all surprising that Berstein, Baum, Cravis and Co.'s Suits have so many staunch admirers.

Critical women have come to know, as have we, that not another concern's garments equal the superior excellence and dressiness of these Suits.

Berstein, Baum, Cravis and Co. specialize on high grade strictly tailored Suits—garments of the rich looking tailorish types—in most instances hand-worked. And therein lies their feature—for instead of their style and service ending with one season—their clever tailored appearance is modish for three and four seasons—while the use of the best English and Scotch cloths, insures the most satisfactory wear.

Quick style changes make it impossible for many women to purchase a Suit each season—so by owning one of these fashionable tailored garments, the wisest economy is practiced.

$25.00 to $45.00

Is the price range for these fine Suits—the same prices that you're asked to pay in stores featuring garments not to be compared with these in style, tailoring and fit.

The new models are fashioned of excellent Serges, Worsteds, Broadcloths and Manish Suitings—Coats in semi-fitted styles with notched collars—strictly plain tailored—though some show a touch of braid. Skirts are in medium width.

Colors are tan, grey, navy and black—besides the new novelties.

Shown in regular sizes 34 to 44, and the odd sizes 33 to 47 for stout figures.

We'd be pleased to show them to you.

SMART MILLINERY FOR EARLY FALL WEAR

It's time to lay aside that Summer hat and don one of these new, dashing models that have been created for the early Fall days.

You may not care to pay much for a street hat—you'll not be asked to—at this store.

We're showing the new, small high crowned hats that are simply, though dressily trimmed with bands of ribbon and wings. Then, we have the fashionable Felt hats—wide Sailors in all colors and white.

Prices From $3.50 to $8.00.

We'll Be At The Fair

The Diamond "15" Puzzle

A few years ago, the "13-14-15" Puzzle was occupying the minds of every one. It was generally admitted to be the hardest Puzzle to solve ever invented—the inventor going crazy in trying to find a fixed rule for solving it. The DIAMOND "15" PUZZLE is an outgrowth of that celebrated Puzzle—it being discovered while trying to solve the 13-14-15 MASTER Puzzle.

Can You Solve This Puzzle? It Can Be Done

DIRECTIONS—Place any number from 1 to 9 inclusive, in the EIGHT vacant diamonds on this or any similarly arranged sheet of paper or other material in such a manner that any way the numbers are added, perpendicularly, horizontally and diagonally (including the number in center diamond) the total will be 15. The same number cannot be used more than once. Few will get all 8 columns correct. Some will possibly get 6 columns. Write your name and address neatly, accurately and plainly on your answer and mail or deliver your solution before 6 p. m.
